Satellite May Detect Soviet H-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress was told today that U.S. weather satellites such as the Vanguard now in orbit could be used to detect H-bomb tests in Russia.

John T. Hagen, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Vanguard division, made the disclosure in answer to questions before the House Space Committee.

Hagen said development of the Vanguard weather satellite, placed into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday may have outflanked Soviet refusal to set up an effective international inspection system to police a nuclear test ban.

The United States has insisted that any agreement to halt testing must be policed by ground inspection teams.

Photographs Blasts
Hagen said weather satellites are expected to be able to photograph large disturbances like those caused by nuclear explosions.

The expected life of the batteries in Vanguard II is only two weeks. But Hagen said a more complicated weather satellite containing long-lasting solar batteries will be launched in the future.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.) asked Hagen whether such satellites would "outflank the discussion taking place on control of nuclear explosions." Hagen replied that "could be."

Fulton said that would mean the United States no longer would have to struggle with Russia over reaching agreement on an inspection system.

"We have it," he said.
Hagen said in reply to further questions that he could not tell yet whether a Vanguard weather satellite could be used to detect missile flights.

"This can only be answered by experiment," he said.

Fulton said that if the satellite could "pick up the trail of missiles" the United States could establish a network of satellites to serve as a warning system.

NASA, meanwhile, is going ahead with preparations for orbiting three more Vanguard satellites.

Rabbi Calls School Name 'Disservice'

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Nearly 150 cheering persons attending last night's Levittown Civic Association meeting were told that the naming of a Bristol Township School for J. Robert Oppenheimer was a "disservice to the community."

The speaker was Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, national executive director of the American Jewish League Against Communism. The meeting was held in the LPRA building at the Levittown Shopping Center.

During a question period held after Rabbi Schultz's vigorous hour and a half lecture on the evils of Communism and "liberals who are dupes of Communists," Rabbi Schultz was asked what he thought of naming a school for Dr. Oppenheimer.

"Well," he replied, "you know I wouldn't do it." The applause was deafening. The LCA has formally expressed itself as opposed to the naming of the Oppenheimer school.

Best Intentions

"These people unconsciously and with the best intentions have honored a name and symbol: Dr. Oppenheimer," the speaker charged.

Earlier the Rabbi had attacked "liberal-inspired smears" against Admiral Lewis Strauss, former Atomic Energy Commission chairman.

"Admiral Strauss was violently slandered because he dared to oppose Oppenheimer, a man who called himself a liar and an idiot when he testified in his own defense," Rabbi Schultz said.

The speaker also asserted that Dr. Oppenheimer, "a man who associated only with Communists, still associates in Paris with the man he once said asked him to be a spy for the Communists."

Rabbi Schultz was asked if there were any Communists in Levittown. "This is the first time I've been here," he said.

He warned that, "You shouldn't" (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Cold, Snow Flurries Due Tonight In Bucks

Snow flurries are "likely" tonight in Lower Bucks, the Weather Bureau at Trenton, forecast today. The snow flurries should move in with a mass of cold air tonight but will amount to no more than flurries, the weatherman said.

The moderate temperatures of the past few days will fade under the new cold snap with the mercury falling to the middle 20's tonight.

Yesterday's high was 50 at 4 p.m. and this morning's low was 35 at 6 a.m.

Khrushchev Warns On Berlin 'Force'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev warned in a speech disclosed today that if the West opens fire over access to Berlin "This will mean the beginning of war." Khrushchev said in Tula last night that any Western attempt to use force to break through to Berlin would be met by force.

The Soviet leader ruled out the possibility of Russian acceptance of a second Berlin airlift with the warning that any "violation" of East German territory would be "resolutely rebuffed... whether this violation will be on water, on land or in the air."

Russian troops were stationed in East Germany, Khrushchev said, and they weren't there just to play games.

The Western powers, in notes delivered Monday, rejected Soviet proposals to end the occupation of Berlin. The United States, Britain and France also reiterated their determination to "uphold by all appropriate means" their rights of access to West Berlin.

The Soviet government has not yet replied to the Big Three Western notes which suggested a Big

Power Failure Sends Kaiser Employees Home
An accident at the commercial division plant of Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., Bristol, shut off all electrical power at that plant this afternoon.

The accident was caused by an outside contractor whose crane snapped the main power line at the Radcliffe St. plant. All employees were sent home for the day, but the company planned to return to normal production for its 3:30 p.m. shift.

Jazzman's Kin Slain

GLENDAL, Calif. (UPI)—The wife of jazz musician Johnny Zorro was critically wounded and her mother killed Tuesday night by a disgruntled suitor of the younger woman.

Mrs. Susan Jamerson, about 60, was slain and her daughter, Mrs. Rona Parrazzo, 31, was near death at Glendale Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound in the head.

Mrs. Parrazzo, a former singer, is Zorro's wife. His legal name is David Parrazzo.

Mrs. Parrazzo's 4-year-old son witnessed the shooting melee which, erupted, police said, when Robert Mason, 40, the would-be boyfriend, jumped from a closet in the Parrazzo home and opened fire on the jazz musician's wife when she arrived home with her son and her mother.

Mrs. Jamerson, the mother, recently moved here from Boston to protect her daughter from Mason who had criminally attacked Mrs. Parrazzo once and beat her two times in the past year, police said.

Careful Breeding Places Dairy Farming 1st In Bucks

By BOB REINHARDT
Courier-Times Staff Writer
(3rd in a series)

Bucks County at present has two "All-Americans." They don't play football, but they pack plenty of beef and could surely charge down the field through any line.

They are prize bulls, rated among the best in the United States and Canada in continental judging. One is a calf owned by P. B. Misner, of Langhorne, the other an age bull (over five years old) of Frank Goodyear, Gardenville. These two, and other prize thoroughbred bulls, are used breeding purebred cows, to assure that the dairy farms will provide good milk in large amounts. Careful breeding has increased the milk yield of Holstein cows by some ten percent in the U. S. and probably more in Bucks County in the past five years.

Holsteins Popular

About half of the 35,000 or more dairy cattle of Bucks County are black and white Holsteins. There are also Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Brown Swiss cows. Owners of each species have formed breeding associations, to assure continued thoroughbred herds.

Dairy farming is the biggest aspect of Bucks County agriculture, and is continuing to grow. There are some 400 less dairy farms in Bucks County today than in 1950, but the cattle population has increased by about 3,000 in the same nine years. The county has about 1,300 farms with cows today.

The industrial and housing development in Bucks County in recent years has devoured some farm acres, but farming is bigger than ever in Bucks County. The county produces (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Pigeon Life Normal Again

TRENTON, N. J. — The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission has called off its pigeon shoot, and it couldn't have happened at a better time.

It was beginning to raise some complicated jurisdictional questions. The commission had assigned one of its bridge patrolmen to shoot the large flock of feathered dive-bombers whose droppings have been damaging the lower Trenton Free Bridge.

He shot several hundred birds last week but he was called off Saturday after the National Audubon Society complained in letters sent to the governors of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Acting Gov. Wesley L. Lance said he did not plan to answer the letter but referred it to the State Fish and Game Division. Division Director A. Heaton Underhill said he didn't see what he could do about it because "pigeons are not considered wild game and don't come under our jurisdiction."

He said if necessary, he will prepare a memo "outlining our position as far as pigeon's are concerned."

Wayward Car Halted, Stricken Driver Dies

An alert Levittown man averted a possible accident this morning when he jumped into a moving car whose operator had been stricken with a heart attack.

The stricken motorist, Harry Subel, 73, of 81 Gamewood Road, Goldenridge, Levittown, was pronounced dead on arrival at Lower Bucks County Hospital.

William Wigman, of 56 Stonybrook Drive, Levittown, was stopped on Mill Creek Road at the Edgely Ave. traffic light about 7:40 a.m. When the light changed Wigman started across the intersection.

Then, he told Bristol Township police, he saw another car coast through the intersection on Edgely Ave.

Wigman said he stopped his car and ran over to the other, slowly moving vehicle. He jumped into Subel's car and steered it to the side of the road.

Police were called and they in turn called the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad. The squad took Subel to the hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Beck's Income Tax Trial Heads For Jury

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—Dave Beck's income tax evasion trial will go to the jury today following final instructions by the presiding judge.

Secretary's Heart, Mind Not Affected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to say on as secretary of state as long as he feels able because he has no equal in the world in wisdom and knowledge of foreign affairs.

The President said doctors have assured him the secretary's heart and mind are not affected by his disease.

He said he has not discussed specifically with anyone the possibility of a successor for the ailing secretary.

A hernia operation last Friday disclosed that Dulles has a recurrence of cancer which first struck him in 1956.

Agree On Russia

Eisenhower said he and Dulles agreed during a talk yesterday at the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center that the United States and its Allies should go right ahead in their preparations for high level negotiations with Russia on the Berlin crisis and German problems.

Eisenhower said Dulles is backed up by a competent second echelon at the State Department. He said that as long as Dulles' heart and mind remained at the service of the American people, negotiation details were not dependent on the secretary's condition.

On the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting on this issue it will be the Russians who start it.

Won't Back Down

He said the United States and its Allies are firmly determined to carry out their responsibilities under 1949 agreements for the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin. If any force is used, the President said, it would have to be the Communists exercising it in an effort to block the Allies from carrying out their duty to the West Berliners.

The President made it clear the United States and its Allies intend to continue to supply Communist-encircled West Berlin even if the Russians go through with their threat to turn over to the East Germans by May 27 control of East Berlin and the access route to West Berlin.

Discusses Threat

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed today that if the Allies tried to shoot their way into Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower told news men the Russian leader must be talking about shooting to stop the United States because the Western Allies have not said anything about shooting their way into Berlin.

Speed Trap Nabs 40

Forty speedsters were netted in a trap on Tullytown's Main St. yesterday.

Chief John Walterick, Tullytown police, said drivers had to be going at least 35 miles-an-hour before we tagged them. The speed limit on Main St. is 25 miles-an-hour.

"There were plenty of drivers going near the limit, but we let them by," Chief Walterick said, "and there were others who clocked as high as 45 miles-an-hour." The trap was operated by seven patrolmen between 2 and 7 p.m. yesterday. The trap was set up on Main St. between Oxford Ave. and the Meehan Oil depot.

The chief said the street is narrow at that point, trolley tracks make driving rough, and cars are parked on both sides of the street. "It's no place for speeding," he said, "especially with children crossing the street."

Meenan Oil To Give Four Scholarships

Meenan Oil Co., Inc. has just completed arrangements with Temple University for the establishment of four four-year scholarships, Dr. Robert Johnson, University president announced today.

The recipients of the scholarships will be high school graduates of high academic standing, personal integrity and demonstrated financial need. The scholarships will be offered to eligible graduates of the following high schools: Bristol, Delhaas, Neshaminy, Pennsbury and Bishop Egan Catholic High School.

In offering the scholarships which are to be known as "Meenan Oil Company Inc. Scholarships," William F. Kenny, Jr., president of the Meenan company, pointed out that recipients would be chosen from the secondary schools in the immediate trading area of the company.

"It is our belief," Kenny said, "that education should be made available to as many young men and women as possible who have good minds and the will to work."

Encourage Graduates

"It is our desire to aid and encourage capable high school graduates in their efforts to further their education, and it seems particularly fitting that these scholarships be created to benefit the youth in the Pennsylvania communities where our company has made such forward strides in the past few years."

In accordance with the Meenan Company's agreement with Temple University, each scholarship is to be a four-year scholarship in a program leading to a Bachelor's Degree, offered yearly to include tuition and all University fees.

A Senator Wade begins a smear campaign against Dr. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, charging him with mismanagement and extravagance. Let's see now. Didn't Charley have to fire the good senator's brother a few weeks ago?

You just can't beat our nickel-a-dozen state legislators. We guess Wade is pretty typical of the pack.

And we see where Morrisville is toying with the idea of a borough manager.

We'll say one thing. Whoever sold the manager idea in Lower Bucks sold it real well. We've already got 'em falling all over each other and if the trend continues we'll have to hire a manager to manage the managers.

The good old days were when elected public officials looked after the affairs of public trust.

Pennsylvania will have an all-time record deficit of $178 million when it winds up the current biennium, Governor Lawrence discloses. This is due mostly to the Leader administration extravagance and a recession-caused tax revenue decline.

You might as well get ready for it—the new tax bite.

Weather still on the mild side and only a little over four weeks to go.

How are the crocuses doing, anyhow?

The feller aways up in the air and harping about something isn't necessarily an angel.

Thrift is wonderful—and is there anybody who hasn't wished his ancestors practiced it more?

Take it easy with the driving!

call people names unless you have documented evidence to back up what you say."

The speaker said the public must be educated and alerted to look for and expose Communists.

"If you think someone in your town is being influenced by Communists, you should go to them and tell them that they are willingly or unwillingly being used by Communists."

Red Menace

According to Rabbi Schultz, the Communist menace is stronger than ever in America.

"They are infiltrating our colleges and our churches," he charged.

Rabbi Schultz was interviewed by reporters as he was driven to the Trenton railroad station to catch the 10:32 p.m. train to New York. Some of his remarks included:

"Joe McCarthy was a great American."

"It doesn't matter whether Dr. Oppenheimer is a Communist or not. He is a security risk."

Associations

"A security risk may be the finest person in the world, but he is a risk if his past association have been judged not safe by authorities."

"The Communist conspiracy is not conducted by the people we hear about like William Z. Foster, but by secret Russian agents who we don't know."

"Teaching is a privilege, not a right."

Rabbi Schultz added that the great majority of college teachers and clergymen are loyal Americans.

But he charged that Communist and pro-Communists have infiltrated both professions.

The Rabbi asserted "youngsters are going to college who are perfectly sound and they are coming out different and they even brag about it."

"This," he asserted, "is due to the teachers."

Asked what colleges are Communist infiltrated, Rabbi Schultz hesitated.

"I will say that the New York City colleges have been cleaned up," he said.

"The American Jewish League Against Communism was formed in 1948 and has 2,000 voting members in 22 states. There are many more non-voting members."

Showing little or no strain from his hectic evening, Rabbi Schultz grabbed his luggage from the back seat of the car and raced for the New York train.

Get Ready For Visit Of Assessor

There are 105,000 pieces of property in Bucks County.

Your house is one of them and this is another reminder your home probably will be visited sometime between now and August in order to allow the county to fix a value on your home for its reassessment program.

A professional assessment firm, Cole-Layer-Trumble Dayton, Ohio, is in the process of putting value tags for the county on all Bucks property.

Any Day Now

Representatives of the company are liable to appear any day to visit your home and examine the improvements made on it since 1957 when the last survey was taken.

Upon completion of the door to door check, the results will be forwarded to the county assessor. From that figure, each house in the county will be assessed at a uniform rate.

The company spokesman said its job is to set "fair and proper value" to each property. The job of the county is to set the assessment rate which is 30 percent of the valuation at present.

Dr. Homer E. Newell of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA outlined new goals as Vanguard II twirled around the globe gathering data on the earth's clouds.

The first experimental satellite, a step toward future continuous weather mapping, was put in orbit by NASA in the space agency's first try. NASA took over the Vanguard project and its scientific team from the Navy last October. The satellite had what many called a depressing record during the frenzied post-Sputnik period.

After a cooling off period of several months, during which it minutely studied the rocket vehicle and made several "minor" changes with no deadlines to meet, NASA Tuesday successfully launched the 21½ pound sphere from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) immediately jumped to Boehm's defense, contending Boehm consulted with several responsible persons before taking action and did not make his decision "in a backroom of the Public Instruction Department."

Seyler called the conference criticized by Wade "one of the most worthwhile I have seen in my time in education in this Commonwealth." He said educators from all parts of the country now look toward Pennsylvania "as the symbol of a modern educational system" because of the conference.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr hinted the resolution might have had political overtones with the comment: "I hope the firing of Rep. Stoner's brother did not prompt Sen. Wade's attack." Barr referred to the dismissal of Robert Stoner as a department bureau head recently. Stoner is the brother of Rep. Clarence G. Stoner (R-Cumberland).

A spokesman for the Public Instruction Department said the conference room mentioned by Wade is the department's audiovisual conference room and that while it is being remodeled the cost is "nothing like $100,000."

A resolution offered by three GOP legislators called for a five-man Senate committee to study the "truthfulness of rumors" charging Public Instruction Superintendent Charles H. Boehm with spending the sum to decorate his office for use as a conference room.

In introducing the resolution, Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) attacked costs incurred by two years, including a $100,000 expense for a conference of educators held here last year. Wade sponsored the resolution with Sens. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) and Henry J. Probert (R-Montgomery).

Wade also read a list of allegations against Boehm which charged the superintendent "permitted and perhaps practiced charging of unjustified items of expenses to special education accounts," gave "preferential status to certain school districts," and employed a personal chauffeur at a $10,000 annual salary.

Another report mentioned by Wade charged Boehm "has mismanaged the staff of the Department of Public Instruction and the orderly procedures of administration to the point that frustration, chaos and resentment are common."

Nine More Appointed School Budget Advisors

The appointment of nine additional members of the Citizens School Budget Committee was announced today by Benjamin F. Stockett, Jr., Bristol Township Board president.

This brings the number of those appointed to the group to 13. Four had been selected Monday night by the Associate School Board.

Three Businessmen

The new appointments include three from the business world—Norman K. Vogel, manager of McCarty's in Bristol; Francis J. O'Boyle, township restaurateur, and C. Donald Moyer, vice president of Philadelphia National Bank in charge of the Bristol branch.

Others named to the committee by Stockett are: Phillip McKeaney, secretary treasurer of the Bucks County CIO-AFL Labor Council; Charles Rhoades, of the Levittown Civic Association; Charles Hatcher, of the Organization for Crofton Borough Civic Association; Albert Stockalis, Bath Road Civic Association; Alan Olsen, of the Lower Bucks County Branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League, and Nicholas DeMara, president of the Delhaas Fathers Association.

Tentative Meeting

Stockett said the first meeting of his group was tentatively set for Tuesday to be held in the library of Benjamin Franklin Junior High School.

The four members named by the Associate School Board are: Newton Parkes, Don Lecher, Herbert Seifert and Marguerite Long.

The Associate Board is composed of representatives of the PTA.

Stockett said he was unsure about naming representatives from the two political parties. It had been suggested that the Democrats and Republican parties be represented on the budget committee. But Stockett said he did not know if he will appoint any one or not.

The budget committee was created to keep the public and township organizations informed of the steps taken in drawing up a school budget. The committee will be an observation and advisory group. It will have no official voice in deciding on the final budget.

Police Probing Theft In Lower Makefield

Lower Makefield Township Police today are investigating a burglary which took place yesterday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Zobel, 1015 Buckingham Way. The entry was made between 11:30 a.m. and 12 p.m., police said.

Lower Makefield Township Police Chief Robert Watson and officer Peter Filpko, who are investigating the burglary, went to the home of Dr. Zobel, early this morning to question Mrs. Zobel. Mrs. Zobel, police said, was too nervous last night to relate anything that might lead to a clue in the case.

Police said, the burglar entered the Zobel home, through a rear cellar door by forcing open the lock. After making entry, the burglars, leaving the first floor rooms untouched, ransacked bedrooms on the second floor.

Police were unable to disclose at this time, just what was missing until they could get a full report from Mrs. Zobel. The theft was discovered by her when she returned from shopping at 4 p.m. yesterday. Dr. Zobel, who runs a garment plant in Ewing Township, N. J. was at work at the time.

24 Delhaas Bus Drivers Reject Union

Charging that they were threatened with the loss of their jobs by "political pressure," 24 drivers of the Delhaas school system nevertheless turned down an appeal to accept a union offer to organize them this morning.

Frank Ifko, elected chairman of the drivers, said that four of the drivers were in favor of the union, the United Transport Workers, representing them.

"But the 24 of us felt," Ifko said, "that we are better off without union representation."

Ifko said the four drivers of the 24 employed by the system who favored the union had been "politically appointed." He said these four got their driver jobs because they were "friends of the politicians."

The Bristol Township School board appoints all persons to positions in the school system. Ifko, who has been a driver since September, 1954, said he obtained his job through the Pennsylvania Employment Service.

Ifko said the Transport Workers Union also has attempted to discuss unionization with custodial and other types of school employees.

James J.A. Gallagher and several other officials of the Transport Workers Union attended this morning's session with the drivers at the bus station garage. Gallagher is also an assemblyman for Bucks County as well as being a union official.

Burglars 'Steak Out' Levittown Meat Market

Burglars took 100 pounds of meat and $45 in change from the Levittown Kosher Meat Market, 6712 Mill Creek Road, Violetwood Shopping Center, Levittown, yesterday.

The thieves broke in through a rear door. They cracked a small safe to get the money and then took two ribs of beef weighing about 60 pounds and a side of lamb weighing about 40 pounds.

Milton Yudkowitz, 33, of Trenton, who operates the store, discovered the burglary at 8 a.m. yesterday.

A jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou.

By the historical lore of the Rubaiyat, that is all that is necessary for a satisfactory meal. Not one word about stimulating sociability. And so it is also with the Japanese tea ceremony performed on festive occasions amid dignity, meditation and traditional calm. Girl Scouts from troop 74 in Levittown were treated to a picture of the formal tea ceremony as presented in Japan by two Japanese brides of GIs, Mrs. Takako Friel and Mrs. Tony Mill, last night at the home of leader, Mrs. Milton Sollett, 71 Queenly Road, Quincy Hollow, Levittown.

The two Japanese girls, dark, pretty and petite, went through the tea ritual with utter perfection. Most of all, they were able to hold in rapt attention the young Girl Scouts who witnessed with amazement the serenity of the ceremony of the eastern world. Assisted by Mrs. William Swann, and her daughter, Mary Dudley, the Japanese obasans (wives) performed the delicate task of serving tea in complete silence. New Scandal Seen In Juke Box Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators were expected to expose a new type of juke box scandal today by tracing loans made to gamblers and narcotics dealers.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Rackets Committee said the hearing would involve "one of the major juke box distributors in New York and his activities in the factoring business—the lending business."

The financial inquiry followed a week-long investigation of mobster violence and "racket union" activities in the coin machine business.

An Important Matter

Kennedy said he viewed it as one of the most important matters to come before the committee.

He was particularly cautious in discussing this phase with newsmen, declining to name witnesses in advance or to outline in detail what the testimony would disclose.

Kennedy said only that the committee would try to develop information on whether "loans, on a cash basis at a high rate of interest, were made to underworld characters."

Going In Circles

By MAURY ALLEN

money was performed as it has been done always.

Oriental customs are deep and traditional. Extreme reverence is paid to the performing of the service exactly according to (Japanese) Hoyle. Each young girl is taught by her mother. It is something they learn well and correctly. And something they must pass on to their offspring. The tea ceremony, performed for the Scouts, is one of great importance that defies any change. The tea is brewed in the small portable stove called an hibachi. It is served to one guest at a time. Each guest must finish his cup before another is served. The hostess never partakes of the tea. And silence above all rules the serving.

With this beauty and poise and tradition, I was hit with slight nostalgia. I have seen the ceremony before many times in Japan. But I have also seen the gaiety and the animated discussion of a Japanese home where meat and vegetables filled the table and saki flowed like wine. We can learn much from the Japanese. But their official and formal meals do not entice me.

As for me, give me a jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou and I 's of breezy talk - to keep me happy.

Boro To Study Manager Plan

By ANTHONY PATTERSON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A proposal to adopt a manager type of government in Morrisville will be studied by a special committee to be appointed at a March meeting of the borough council.

Edward Mannix, president of borough council, said most of the members apparently favor the proposal.

"I cautioned council at the meeting on Feb. 10 that they should study the matter further," added Mannix.

Mannix said he felt that council should be careful as to how much power is given to a borough manager.

Sources said that if a post of manager is created, most councilman favor giving the job to Robert Steward, the present borough secretary.

Steward at the moment carries out most of the duties a borough manager would handle, although he is not formally empowered to do so.

Under the present set-up, all functions of the borough, are required, theoretically, to be first approved by the borough council.

With the borough business running on a day-to-day basis, it is imperative that the borough secretary be able to make a decision in the event he cannot contact council.

It is noted, according to sources, that the population of the borough, in the past ten years, has gone from 6,500 to 8,300 and there is definitely a need for increased services.

This along with other borough matters has put an increased burden upon the office of the borough secretary.
